

How to Cure it.

Too much stomach for bloated,
All out of sorts,
Don't feel like work to-day. Guess I've another case of biliousness.
"Take anything?"

"Yes; some pills, but no results; suppose I'm getting ironclad. Sometimes I double the dose, then they physic me so hard I'm too weak to work. Think I'll have to try something new."
"Ever try Prickly Ash Bitters?"
"No; I've heard a good deal about it, but never tried it."
"Well, you'll be pleased with the results."

The purgative action of Prickly Ash Bitters not only removes hard impactions, gas and impurities, but it strengthens the muscular action of the bowels which causes them to move regularly.
Prickly Ash Bitters is a bowel tonic and regulator in the truest sense. It promotes daily evacuations, establishes healthy movements and is the best known remedy for disordered digestion, flatulence and a constipated habit.

D. M. Blackwelder, of Litchfield, Ill., says in the Litchfield News: "I am perfectly willing, in fact glad to testify to the value of Prickly Ash Bitters as a medicine for the kidneys, stomach and bowels. I have used it whenever I needed anything of the kind for the last fifteen years and it has always given satisfaction."

TRAINED WILD ANIMALS.

That Were Trapped And Trained Have Become Clever Circus Performers.

More beautiful by far than painter's brush could portray are the picturesque groupings of the trained wild animals exhibited and performing for public safety within the confines of a huge steel girt arena at the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows which exhibit here September 23. They form heroic pictures almost beyond the pale of mortal man's conception.

Here we see the trainer's won-derous art of subjugation demonstrated to the highest state of mental and physical possibility.
The biblical injunction that the lion and the lamb should lie down gathered together in amicable unison, their inherent hatred for one another transformed into animal love by the gentle teachings and precepts of man.

We see presented the incredible spectacle of the harmonious housing of once ferocious and lordly lions, fierce Bengal tigers, crafty and cunning leopards, sneaking and snarling pumas, great rapacious polar bears, and magnificent and lovable Great Dane dogs. The trainer enters the enormous steel cage and the animals answer his bidding in awesome and sensational stunts.

Colossal pyramids and graceful and beautiful tableaux are formed; the jungle terrors, the tigers, playfully engage in a game of see-saw, with a great Dane dog balancing the board and furnishing the motive power; another tiger rides a tricycle propelled by the dogs; leopards and polar bears frolic together and do rolling and balancing stunts on barrels and chairs; lions and tigers convert themselves into a soft and downy couch upon which the trainer reclines in peaceful repose; the entire group gather round a festal board with the trainer as host, and a monster lion and lioness in the places of honor on either side; the largest tiger presently opens his huge mouth that the trainer may place his entire head on the inside; and the crowning test of the complete subjugation of these ferocious beasts comes when the trainer, with bare hands, feeds them rare tidbits of raw meat.

One who knows of the savage instincts displayed by these terrible cats when feeding in their natural state can gain some conception of the wonderful character of this unparalleled feat. It Life has more ups than downs. Right now, while you are making, you ought to be saving; then when the down come you will have something to fall back upon.

Where is the money you have been making all these years?

You spent it and somebody else put it in the bank.
Why don't you put your own money in the bank yourself? Why let the other fellow save what you earn?

may well be said that though they have not the gift of speech

Beating the Bachelor.

In Sicily the fir tree is unknown as a Christmas adjunct, but the very ludicrous custom of "beating the bachelor" is observed by the women.
All of the unmarried men in the village are driven into the church after mass by the outnumbering women and run about the sacred edifice and beaten until they declare (often falsely) that they will wed ere another Christmas come around.

9 Glorious Days at the Tri-State Fair September 26 to October 4

The Tri-State fair has been growing and improving from year to year in comprehensiveness of exhibits, in artistic quality of its displays, in the number of its attractions, in the value of its permanent improvements and general attractiveness to all its patrons. This year in combination with the Fall Festival Memphis will present greater attractions for its visitors than at any previous year in the history of the city.

From Woman's Day, at the opening, to Memphis Day, at the close, there will not be a dull moment. Great preparations have been made for Blue and Gray Day on Wednesday, Sept. 27; Mississippi Day on Thursday, Sept. 28; Tennessee Day on Monday, Oct. 2, and Arkansas Day on Tuesday, Oct. 3.

PROGRAM OF THE FALL FESTIVAL

Tuesday, September 26th

This day will occur the stupendous Days and Industries, showing the present of Memphis in science, arts, and manufacture. This parade will be the best and finest ever seen in the city with all the streets in gala dress and hundreds of thousands of strangers

Wednesday, September 27th

On this day will be held the National Reunion of the Blue and Gray, with long parades of Union and Confederate veterans side by side in carriages, together with numerous bands, militia companies, fraternal organizations in uniform, etc. This brings the old veterans of both armies together in one great feast of mutual regard and patriotism.

Thursday, September 28th

On this day will occur the great Night Pageant illustrating the life, achievements and death of Hernando DeSoto. This will comprise twenty magnificent, illuminated, historic floats with a large number of horses, out-riders, knights in armor, etc., making this a long and magnificent parade.
